This note comes with your IDEA kit. It says what the kit is, how IDEA looks after it, and how to get in touch if you need a hand.

What the kit is

This section describes the kit your school has received.

The kit is a small computer for the school (the IDEA box), classroom computers, and a school network. On the IDEA box you will find Kolibri for ready-made lessons, Nextcloud for your own files, and Wikipedia offline. Teachers and learners open them from a classroom computer, without internet.

The IDEA for Teachers: Tutorial shows you, step by step, how to use the apps in your lessons.

How IDEA looks after the kit

This section explains what IDEA counts about the kit, and why.

> IDEA counts how the kit is used, not who uses it or what they write, so that it can offer help. A donated kit may move to another school if it stays unused.

How to get in touch

This section says how to reach IDEA if you have a question.

If you have a question or would like help, write to IDEA through the person who handed you this kit, or send a message to the IDEA support bot on Telegram (@IDEA_SupportBot). You do not need to telephone anyone.
